Dear Mr. Kelso:

I am pleased to submit to your attention our comprehensive assessment and strategic roadmap of the medical imaging and radiological services that currently subsist within the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation.

As you are well aware, diagnostic imaging transcends the entire patient care continuum. Medical imaging is utilized as a heavily dependent clinical instrument from the point of diagnosis, through the care and treatment process, and ultimately ends when the clinician measures the treatment's effectiveness at the point of patient disposition. When placed inside a correctional system, this process encounters additional hurdles that require distinctive attention.

The issues and resultant suggestions that are documented throughout our report are clearly synchronized with the action items outlined within your strategic objectives. We believe you will find our examination details extremely advantageous to your efforts to provide the CDCR with a codified, stable and constitutionally acceptable healthcare delivery system.

We thank you for the opportunity to have worked collaboratively with your excellent staff and look forward to offering our services again in the near future.

Respectfully submitted,

Shawn McKenzie
